

WALTHAM CLUBS
The Emerson-Browning Club

This series includes the lectures of Edward Dwight Emerson delivered to the Emerson Browning Club 1892-c. 1908; the meeting minutes of the club from 1900-1903; a paper written for the American Renaissance Literary Report entitled The Emerson-Browning Club of Waltham and Charles Malloy by Kenneth Walter Cameron, 1990.

The bulk of materials in this series include the writing of Edward Dwight Emerson. This series provides a very sketchy history and many of the writings are undated. There is also very little mention of the "Browning" aspect of the Club. The emphasis in this series is on Ralph Waldo Emerson. There is virtually no information about Charles Malloy, the Emerson Browning club's founder or about the club's other members. The meeting minutes provide another small glimpse at the organization, but the lack of more than two years worth of notes is disappointing.
